LIGHTING CASE STUDY

The project included installing all new lighting in the church sanctuary, as well as state-of-the-art lighting controls.

CHALLENGE

This building, which is more than 100 years old, posed many challenges due to its age and construction. The original structure was not built with provisions for electrical conduits and wiring. Nonetheless, FSG was brought on board to perform electrical renovations and lighting retrofits.

SOLUTION

The project included installing all new lighting in the church sanctuary, as well as state-of-the-art lighting controls. In addition, the old church also received a new educational wing that was built into a previously added gymnasium, calling for a complete renovation. In order to accommodate this expansion, FSG brought in a complete secondary service, and maintained continuity of service to the facility while never taking the building offline. This project truly demonstrated FSG's capability to work in all spaces, as well as the multitude of disciplines in which we work.
